2nd Training Centre for the Federal Revenue Administration

The building wing for education, accomodation and sports is designed with brick walls, that are typical for the regional building types. The fanshaped building volume is build around a court, that is a central element for communication. It is open towards the cefetaria. On the streetside, the building volume is rather closed, which gives the building an urban chraracter. The living wing of the building corresponds to the surrrounding landscape.
